

Perfect Playday Blasts Bolton

By Hannah Newton (10), Hannah Slater (11), Aishah Atcha (12) and Jade Harrison (10).

Playday 2009 in Bolton was very successful and many, many people aged from 0 – 90 years old attended. Many activities took place, such as Henna painting, DJing, Disco Dancing, rock climbing, and bracelet, bag and badge making. There was also a bouncy castle, skate park competition, parachute games, outdoor play, talent contest, an under 5's area, nail art and hair braiding. There was clock making as the theme was 'make time for play'.

The children also had the chance to win a certificate by completing a Playday Passport, which they could have stamped after taking part in any of nine activities. After collecting all nine, they were awarded a fantastic certificate.

Bolton Playday was fantastic and a huge success and it's hoped that next year will be even more successful.

The play day reporters interview the Mayor of Bolton, Councillor Norman Critchley.

Emma, 11 and Rebecca, 9, enjoyed playing with the circus equipment. They said, "I have never tried this before, its great".

Emma, 6, enjoyed making a clock and a bracelet. She said, "I have really enjoyed myself today. I have enjoyed the hula hooping".
